Pentecost

‘Pentecost’ by William Blake

Unless the eye catch fire,
The God will not be seen.
Unless the ear catch fire,
The God will not be heard.
Unless the tongue catch fire,
The God will not be named.
Unless the heart catch fire,
The God will not be loved.
Unless the mind catch fire,
The God will not be known.

Students on Placement

This Sunday we welcome two Ordinands joining us for the month of June. Anna and Isaac, welcome!

We also have the continuing summer placement of Helen who will be with us for another two weeks.

Nor should we overlook Sister Teresa who is on placement with us (as well as being an active member of our worshipping community and her own Religious Community – with Sister Rosie) as she prepares for ordination.

And, of course, our 'Annual Ordinands' on placement. Heather and Lisa will continue to be with us in the coming academic year.

However, a number of our 'Annual Ordinands' will be leaving us at this time as they move to pastures new to be made Deacon and serve their titles. We say goodbye to Jo, Fay, Emma, Ben and Richard. Thank you for your contributions to ASC, we wish you well and will hold your future ministry in our prayers.

'Bringing the Outside In'

Last week I made a brief comment about one of the missional characteristics and opportunities that shape All Saints. I mentioned that we have a strong history of, and are recognised as, a welcoming and open place within the Bristol community for concerts, arts, events and exhibitions.

This led to a host of appreciative and supportive comment.

It is worth our reflection on the significance of 'the arts' here at All Saints and our missional purpose of 'bringing the outside in, and taking the inside out'. The number of people who attend concerts, exhibitions and events within Church, the Atrium and Randall Room is very considerable. Looking forward, this is one of the key purposes of our investments in the building: making the church warmer, becoming environmentally responsible, developing the Atrium and publicising the (required) work in protecting the Piper Windows

Often these visits lead to quite profound conversations which do not equate to attendance at worship now, but do relate to people's re-framing of what church is and does, and to enabling thought about the purpose of life and what lies beyond our material world.

Nor should we forget that music and liturgy are also key features of our worship and strongly reflect our catholic heritage.

The Common Cup - Changes in Liturgy, Post-Covid

Following the announcements and recommendations made by the Church of England's Coronavirus Guidance Team during the first week of May, we will be returning to some of the pre-Covid practices during Mass.

The Common Cup

This is the most significant, by far. From Ascension Day and going forward communion will be offered in both kinds. We will continue to make a single line in the central aisle to receive the host and then have the offer and choice to receive the wine from the Common Cup. This will be taking communion standing, as is our weekday practice and in common with many churches (including both Bristol Cathedrals).

It is important to emphasise that the offer of receiving the wine is a personal choice. There are probably a considerable number of us who wish to maintain a Covid-safe-practice and may wish to receive in one kind only. Indeed, there are already those who have always received in one kind only in response to personal decisions of faith or health.

And, it is important to emphasise that receiving in one kind is a full and sufficient sacramental communion.

Mtr Wendy Bray, Funeral Requiem

The Funeral Requiem Mass for Mtr Wendy is at All Saints on Tuesday 7th June at 12 noon. This will be followed by an opportunity to share memories with and meet others for whom Wendy was so important.

Eternal rest grant unto her, O Lord, and let perpetual light shine upon her

We hold Fr Paul, Wendy's family and friends, and the extensive networks and communities with which she was connected in our prayers. We give thanks for her life and all that she has done through her way of life, her writing and ministry and care for others. And for the gifts she brought to us here at All Saints.

Website Up-Date

The Up-Dated Website is now on-line!!!!

All the data and content has been migrated between the old and the new – and it looks great!

For the next couple of weeks you will find glitches where the migration hasn't quite happened as expected.....! We hope these are short lived. During these next couple of weeks each page will be reviewed one by one – after that we'll let you know and you can then let us know about the problems you've encountered.

Thank you to the team who have made this up-grade work so well!!!
